

Unlimited Access to PDF Files with AES Encryption

February 2010. Passcovery Ltd. has released the new version of Atomic PDF Password Recovery, its tool for removing password restrictions on Adobe PDF files. The new version supports the latest AES encryption used in Adobe Acrobat 9.

Password restrictions limit what you can do with a PDF file – you may not be able to print it, select and copy its contents, insert comments, edit the file or fill out the forms it contains. A lost or forgotten password prevents you from making full use of a PDF file.

Atomic PDF Password Recovery from Passcovery Ltd. is the lightning-fast solution for lost PDF passwords. The tool removes any passwords immediately upon opening the file and removes all previously installed restrictions. Atomic PDF Password Recovery is guaranteed to work with Adobe PDF 1.7 files, as well as earlier formats (files created in Adobe Acrobat 9 or previous versions of Acrobat).

In addition to the prevalent RC4 encryption, the new version of Atomic PDF Password Recovery also supports the latest AES-128 encryption, making it an all-purpose tool for working with PDF files.

100% guaranteed instant results – that's the Atomic PDF Password Recovery promise. The streamlined graphic interface makes learning the program fast and easy, so you can quickly move on to removing the restrictions from your PDF files.

Affordable Solution

Atomic PDF Password Recovery runs on all Microsoft Windows operating systems from Windows 95 to Windows 7. A limited trial version is available for download on the product page. A corporate license costs $25 and a home license for one computer costs $35.

Developer

Passcovery Ltd. develops Windows solutions for password recovery. The company currently offers over 20 products for recovering passwords to popular file formats such as Microsoft Office documents, ZIP and RAR archives, email clients and more. For more information on Passcovery's over 20 applications, visit: www.apasscracker.com.

Product page: www.apasscracker.com/products/pdf-password-remover.php

EDITORS: We provide evaluation copies and additional materials for all of our products on request. Special offers available.

Contact our PR manager Olga Gladysz at olya@passcovery.com
