Forgotten passwords to Outlook Express and Windows Mail accounts are no longer a problem

April, 2009. Passcovery Ltd. releases a new edition of Atomic Outlook Express Password Recovery – the password recovery solution for all types of accounts stored in Outlook Express and Windows Mail. Instant, guaranteed and 100% correct recovery of lost and forgotten passwords.

The Outlook Express and Windows Mail accounts regulate access to mail and news servers. Each mailbox and a news server have their unique password protected accounts. Outlook Express and Windows Mail offer users a "Remember password option". It is very convenient and saves the trouble of typing passwords in each time entering the mailbox. It becomes even more useful in case of several mailboxes. The bad thing is that you may forget a password then. And you may need it some time.

Passcovery Ltd. offers you a universal password recovery solution for lost or forgotten passwords to Outlook Express and Windows Mail accounts - Atomic Outlook Express Password Recovery. Laconic graphic interface and powerful functionability compose the credo of this product.

The mechanisms realized in Atomic Outlook Express Password Recovery guarantee 100% correct and instantaneous password recovery to any Outlook Express and Windows Mail accounts. The recovery process is totally automatic and starts at the moment of program launch.

Find out more about Atomic Outlook Express Password Recovery, its developer and other password recovery tools at the following website: www.apasscracker.com

Pricing and Availability

Atomic Outlook Express Password Recovery is compatible with any edition of Microsoft Windows from Windows 95 up to Windows Vista. Registration fee depends on the license type: For home users the price is 20 usd, for business users – 28 usd per one license. Authorized users get a full edition of the program with no functional limitations of the trial edition, free technical assistance and the possibility to update the program free of charge.

About Passcovery Ltd.

Passcovery Ltd. was set up in 2008 with a view to purchasing the project apasscracker.com from its former owner. Thus the young Passcovery Ltd. Company has become the owner of the project started in 2000 developing within its framework about 20 different products focused on password protection studies and password recovery tools.

Project's homepage : www.apasscracker.com
Product page link : www.apasscracker.com/products/outlookexpress.php
Support page link : www.apasscracker.com/contact

EDITOR'S ADVISORY: A free editor's license for any product of www.apasscracker.com is available. For further information on how to get the free license please use the following address to contact the project manager review@apasscracker.com